

Scott

Feeling bored at work!

25 year old straight male looking for a female aged between 21 and 27

recommended by: Prem

| | | | |
|------------|-----------------|-------------|--|
| children: | none | area: | Berkshire Windsor |
| drinking: | maybe even more | smoking: | no |
| education: | university | employment: | employed ermm, Gas Optimisation Analyst?? |
| religion: | don't know | | |
| height: | over 6ft | build: | athletic |

summary: a confident sort, a pub lover, doesn't suffer fools, heroic, pretty sexy, smartly turned out, sporty, terribly witty and vivacious!!

Prem has this to say about Scott:

Ladies let me present to you, Scott. He is as gentle as a cotton bud, honestly.

Scott claims to look like a young, battered George Clooney so make of that what you will, but I'd probably liken him to a Scottish Keanu Reeves circa Speed days. That's definitely a good thing in my books and will most probably float the boat of 99% of the girls who wanted to be Sandra Bullock on that bus!

He also likes to think that his banter is the highlight of mine and probably many other people's day, but I have to admit it does provide good entertainment value and his cheeky nature will have you laughing for most of the time you're in his presence.

For those of you ladies who would like to try their hand at being a WAG then Scott is your man. He currently plays for Englefield Green football club, who are top of the league I hear, so if the Gas trading career flops then he has the potential to be Windsor's answer to Golden Balls. Don't hold your breath though...

I won't bang on anymore about how funny, clever and genuinely decent Scott is. Yadda yadda yadda. I think his pros (and cons) will speak for themselves but rest assured he is definitely the sort of guy you would want to go on a date with (Be warned, the boy likes his food). And an extra bonus- he'll pay!

to which Scott responded:

I'd just like to point out that the George Clooney comment was entirely "tongue in cheek" as the above picture undoubtedly confirms - I was more than a little hungover and unshaven on the day in question anyway!

As for the Keanu comment I can only assume Prem has been on the cooking brandy again.

Apologies for the tank top above, it was a dark dark time in my life that I have put behind me now. Although the tank top still makes some appearances at work.